THURSDAY, Aug. 4. Inquiry into the Sanity of Thes. Topping. The prisoner, Thomas Topping, having been convicted of the murder of his wife, which he was charged with hav ing perpetrated on the evening of the 1st of January last, and information having been subsequently received, and a fidavits taken tending to render it probable that the prison er, prior to and at the time of the murder, was laboring un der an alienation of mind, so as to destroy his accountability as a moral agent, application was made to the Executive of the State for a suspension of the sentence or a commutation of punishment ou this account, and the Governor and his subject of Executive interposition and elemency or not." James R. Whiting, Esq. the District Attorney, aided by Dr. Francis, conducted the examination, in the Court o' Sessions chamber, which commenced at 11 o'clock vester. day, when a number of witnesses were examined, the substance of whose testimony is as follows:

Council directed an inquiry to be made in the case of Top ping, with a view to ascertain whether "he was a proper

Dr. John B. McComb, physician to the city prison, be came acquainted with Topping on the 2d July, when he commenced attending him in prison. Had seen him twice and often thrice a day-on account of a pain he had in the right side of his head. He said he had often been afflicted with that pain for years before. He wished witness to extract a tooth, as he said that once relieved him. He assigned no cause for the pain-appeared to labor under great de-pression of mind-acted childishly, and cried; gave no reapression of mino-acted chindistry, and creat; gave no reason for or account of it. The pain appeared to produce great depression. Witness so tribed his gum, bled, blistered add cupped him-administered to kim cathartics and anodynes, daily, which appeared to relieve him. The pain in his head did not produce any thing like a disqualifying condillon in regard to matters that came before him. His appetite was very poor. Witness did not discover any marks of insanity in prisoner. He had very little knowledge—was a man of very feeble intellect, and apparently uneducated.

John Barr, of No. 241 Eldridge street, undertaker, had come over in the same ship with the prisoner some 11 years Saw him often on the passage. He was then and afterwards a sober, nice, industrious man. Have known him ever since, and been intimate. Knows of his being attacked with pain in the head. Knows he was sun-struck; was with him at the time, but did not then know of it. It occurred in the summer immediately after that in which was the cholera. Witness went to his shop to get his boot mended, and Topping walked out with him from the 6th to the 7th avenues in Greenwich lane. It was the heat of summer. Topping came out without his bat on, and as he went along witness advised him to cover his head with his apron or handkerch ef, as the sun was so strong, he might get sun-struck. He said it would do him no harm, and did not cover his head. Topping returned home and witness went to his business. In evening he came to the louse of witness-appeared to be crazy, and held both his hands to the sides of his head, expressing a fear lest his brains would drop out. He continued to act as if in a state of distraction; refused all nourish. ment. Has seen him often since, up to the time of his trouble; asked bim to stay the night as he was sun-struck, but to go to a doctor; his answers were simple, not precisely answers to his questions; saw him the next day-asked him if his head was better-said he could not tell if it was or not He said be thought his head would fly off his shoulders; was in bed, could not work for some time. He said his head was boiling over, and felt as if the roof would fly off. Have known him since to do some silly and strange acts; has often since exhibited a wild stare in his looks; I are often seen him in a strange state of mind, talking very wildly. His memory was very short. Never saw him influenced by drink. Would have entrusted him before with or to perform any thing—but not since, as witness feared the prisoner would forget it, I heard his wife say she thought he was not right in his mind perhaps a hundred times. Witness has seen him at times when she said so, and when he talked wild and foolish. Have seen him set on his seat not at work and shed tears— Have seen him rise and walk the floor wringing his hands, crying like a baby, with the tears falling from his eyes. He would make a crying or whinning noise, and complained of his eyes being weak, and said he was not well. At these times he was indifferent to taking food. Witness s. * him the morning of the day on which the murder was commit-ted, at 9 to 10 o'clock A M, in Centre street, where he work-ed. Asked the prisoner for his little boy to drive the hears-of winess; he said witness could have him and accompanied witness to his house; found there a woman sick in bed, and prisoner's wife in the house. Asked for the boy who she said was out. Witness and prisoner left together—he going towards his shop and witness home. He was sober then said it was a dull New Year's day-talked lightly-witness did not call prisoner's wife drank or sober that morning.— They appeared good natured together. In the evening in passing near prisoner's door, saw a crowd and went up to the house, but did not go in. He was at the door outside, pected the sun did it. Edward N. Mead, minister of the Episcopal Church, New York, is acquainted with Topping and has visited him since the 1st February last to the present time at short intervals. The conversation was purely of a religious nature-considered him a man of extremely feeble intellect, almost apto the enormity of his offence, or the peculiar situation in which was placed arising out of his conviction. His memory was very feeble. I do not think he has ever adverted to any cause that has affected his head. He has uniformly denied any knowledge of what occurred on the fatal day up to 11 o'clock, and never deviated from it. He daiformly de-nied his guilt, and whilst he has said he might have done the deed, has throughout denied any knowledge of it. He has not manifested any contrition for the offence, insisting al-ways on his want of accountability. Never have seen him in a condition to be incapable of judging between an action manifestly right or wrong in his intercourse with others. I mean to say he appeared to be in a state of mind in which little excitement might overthrow his reason. Never say a little excitement might overturow his reason. Never saw James White, of 244 Eldridge street, carpenter, has known officer having arrested him, and was taking him away .-

Did not speak to him; cannot say he saw witness. Witness was not spoken to by prisoner's lawyer. Witness knew prisoner was to be tried. Witness was not called upon, and did not wish to interfere in a case of life and death. After he was sun-struck, said he thought he should lose his reason and would not be able to support his family. Said he ex-

Topping 10 years off and on-thought him a harmless man; never thought his brains strong. About two years ago I saw him at my brother-inlaw's (Burr's) and his conduct was that of a crazy man. His eyes were wild and I did not think him capable of any thing except to make shoes. Learned that he had been snn-struck from my brother-in-law. Never caw him drink liquor-be ate very little-thought his mind weak, but he always appeared harmless. He appeared to know that fire would burn him and that water would drown him. I think he would know that it would be wrong to knock a man down without cause. I have not seen him since two years ago at Mr. Burr's.

Elizabeth Topping, sister of the prisoner, aged 39, was born in the county of Nomagh, Ireland. Has seen prisoner seldom for the last three or four years. He was a sober, steady man, and fived with his wife. She told me of the sun-stroke, and said it changed him very much. He gave up his work a week or so after he got the stroke. He told me of his sight failing since the stroke, and appeared stupid and forgetful. I thought he would have to go up to the Asyhum. He has often spoken to me about the affection in his head. He would sit out in the rain at times and has put me out in the snow at night and afterwards would not believe it. He treated those he liked best the harshest. There was nothing strange about him before the sun-stroke. Sometimes he would spring off the bench and sometimes sing and cry;—afterwards we could not make him believe he had constructed in the last time I saw him was in the house in Charlton street; he was very incoherent, and I was obliged to get a man named Gibbons to put him out. He appeared sober at the time. I have seen him frequently since his confinement but could not get kim to recoiled any thing of the murder. He would always fully recognize me when I visited him prices. He may mustok one wart of the family ted him in prison. He never mistook one part of the family for another. He never gave me a reason why he had no physician.

Isabella Roberts, residing in the 6th Avenue, has known the prisoner since 1831. He was a tenant of my busband's for three years after he first came to this country. He was steady and attentive to his wife and children. After that time he became somewhat unsteady and flighty in his mlad and did not provide for his family. Hardly knew what he was doing, but did not drink. I have heard he was sun struck. About 5 or 6 years ago one of his children died, and he went a way before the inneral moyed. It waited cometime for him, and while passing to the grave he met the funeral, and insisted on the child heing taken back. I have not known him much since—have always thought him a weak minded man. him a weak minded man.

Moses Heatty, a carpenter by trade, of 73 Thompson-st. deposed that the prisoner was a tenant of his. Has known him about three years-but have only seen him three times in 14 months, and not since April, 1811 until after the murder In April, 1841, he came into my store, passed through it, and sat down without speaking to me. I spoke to him, but he gave me a simple answer, which I did not understand. He appeared to be strange, which was remarked by my wife and one of my children. He sat a considerable time, when I requested him to go home as it was bed time. He then tose and went away. He seemed to be perfectly sober. On a particular might when he looked in my premises he behaved in a manner that alarmed all the inmates of the bouse, and threatened to kill some of the women as they troubled and threatened to kill some of the women as they troubled him excessively. And it was said he had a knife about him, but I did not see it. He is a man of extremely weak mind. John Robinson, physician, has known Topping only since about the time of the murder; attended a girl that was by iog sick at his house named Kelly. I reproved the girl and Mrs. Topping for not tollowing my prescription. Topping came in, and was very courteous and acted strangely.

Samuel Dalzell, shoe dealer, deposed—The prisoner worked for 14 months, from the fall of 1940 up to the time of the murder. He was not a good workman; did not understand the business, but seemed to think he did. He did not know what wages be carned. I was surprised when I heard of the murder. I would not have entrusted him with my business. He came to my store the morning of the murder, as I supposed, for a small sum I owed him. There was nothing unusual about him as I observed. He said if the stores were open, he would get some leather and go to work. He speered as a person laboring under trouble, his look vacant, not cheerful. I always considered him a man of weak mind. I was not called on the trial, but visited him in prison, and conversed with him about the murder. He said he had no recollection how it happened.

Dr. Cornellus B. Archer, the Coroner, deposed that he had been a practitioner ten years, and first saw the prisoner on the 2d of January, at the time of the inquest, at No 80 Orange-street, his residence. His manner was that of a man very much bewildered. I thought it was the effect of fright. He was there during the whole inquest, and appeared to manifest a stolid indifference to what was going peared to mannest a some interference to that was going on. I was almost induced to change my mind respecting the prisoner before I left; saw no evidence of idiotism, or that he did not know right from wrong. The only convertible to the convertible of the conv sation I had with him was by simple question and answer. I asked him if he knew what he had been doing. He reno contrition. I have seen him frequently before and since his conviction; never heard him say that he was snn-struck. He was a man of feeble intellect; supposed the inquest was the trial, and asked me how long I was going to give him to prepare himself. He supposed he was to be executed as a matter of course. I never saw any thing that led me to believe he was insane, but his conduct betrayed great de-bility of mind. When I informed him be had not been tried, he made no remark, but seemed surprised. I generally found him reading the Bible when I visited him; considered him a man of inoffensive turn of mind, and can hardly conceive he would commit an act of violence from some powerful, exciting cause.

The examination was adjourned to Monday next, at 4

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.-Before Judge Betts .-TRIAL OF BENJAMIN DEMEYER .- The prisoner, on the 15th May last was Postmaster at South Durham, Greene county. where he also kept tavers, and cultivated a farm of about 100 acres. He is charged with having embezzled a letter containing $245, which had been put into the Post-office at West Centre, by Matthews & Hunt, directed to Hiram Hill, Cashier of the Catskill Bank. The penalty for the offence, on conviction, is imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than 10 nor more than 21 years. The Postmaster at West Centre testified to having receiv ed a package from quarter to half an inch thick, about the shape of a bank bill, from Mr. Matthews on Sunday morning, May 15, which he enveloped and directed to Catskill. He forwarded the package immediately by mail. Hiram Fox, postmaster at Union Society, (the next town) observed own letters. He remarked to a neighbor, who was standing and an increased amount of business done to-day. by him in his bar-room, (which appears to have been the Post-office) "Boss, I guess there 's quills in this." The other put his hand upon it and said, "Yes, this is money."-Fox slropped the package in the bag, and it passed on. The next office was that of South Durham, belonging to prison er. The stage-driver (George Moore) testified to stopping at the various offices and waiting till the letters belonging to each were taken out and the bag re-delivered to him .-The counsel admitted that there could be no question as to the honesty, &c. of the driver. The office beyond South Durham was that of Acra, the Postmaster of which observed no such package as bad been alluded to, nor did it reach Cat-kill. A day or two afterwards Matthews & Hunt trans mitted $25 to Mr. Hill, which, with the $245, would have been the sum necessary to take up two notes due on that day. The letter alluded to the first remittance, notice as to non-arrival of which was immedialely given.

It further appeared in evidence, that Mr. Demeyer had as execution pending against him for $90, which had been levied upon his property, and the sale postponed from 20th cf April to 20th May. This execution he paid on the Friday bsequent to the mailing of the letter, in Tanners' and Catskill bank bills, which, with slight exception, were the descriptions enclosed. He also paid a judgement that week for $3-also paid cash for oats, groceries, &c. with the same kind of money. In addition to such, there was a $5 bill of the Onondaga bank which he had paid to the person holding he refused; he did not drink any thing; did not advise hix | the jadgement for $8, and which, from certain marks, was sworn to by Mr. Matthews as having been among those enclosed in the letter.

On the part of the defence, testimony was produced to show that Mr. Demeyer's business had been much increased in consequence of the next public house on the mauntain side being recently burnt down, and that he had declared himself frequently as being without money while he was in possession of such, and carefully hoarding it up to meet the judgements against hirs. The Cashier of the Catskill Bank, in giving his testimony said that he bad never heard any thing against the reputa-tion of prisoner, but understood that he was poor, and also that a note drawn by him for $80 kad been discounted at the bank but not paid when due, and remains unpaid.— Several persons spoke to his good character, the only draw-back being a report some time since of his taking hay from

An attempt was made on the part of prisoner's counsel to impeach the character of Mr. Fox and throw the blame on him, but it did not amount to much, except serving to convey the desired "doubt" to the Jury.

Ogden Hoffman, Esq. District Attorney, aided by his assistant, Mr. Watson, conducted the case on the part of the prosecution, and Mr. S. Sherwood, with Mr. Banton, appeared on behalf of the prisoner. The leading counsel on either side summed up the case with powerful effect. The Court, in its charge, reviewed the material facts in the case alluded to the strong point of the $5 bill being clearly re cognized by two witnesses-explained the law in relation to such charges, and called upon the jury faithfully to do its

After being out from quarter-past 5 to near 8 o'clock After being out from quarterpast or heat of courts they came in with a verdict of Guilty, but recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. Judge Betts said he would be happy to attend to the recommendation so far as the law permitted him to do so, but the lowest sentence allowed is 10 years in the States Prison.

The result seemed to come unexpected to the prisone and his friends, several of whom were present. The prisoner's father and two brothers were in Court-he has also we understand a family-to all of whom, by this false and guilty step, he has caused wretchedness and disgrace. CORONER'S OFFICE. - DROWNED IN A CISTERN The Coroner held an inquest yesterday morning at the house of William Smith, colored, in 84th street, between the 7th and 3th avenues, on the body of Esther Thompson colored child of Ellen Moore, aged 16 months. The mother left the child for a few minutes while she went out to exe cute an errand, and on her return found her absent; and on searching diligently the infant was found in the cistern near the house. She was taken out, and efforts made for her recuscitation, but in vain. Verdict of the jury, that she came to her death by accidental drowning in a cistern on the lot of William Smith, in $4th-street, the said cistern be ing without a box or other protection against accident.

IT The following recommendation of a popular medicine, is published for the information of those whom it may interest.

New York, July 12, 1842.

Mr. Schring—Sir—Upon the recommendation of my physician, I commenced, about three weeks since, to take your Restorative Cordial as a remedy for Dyspepsia, with which complaint I have been for some time affected—and I think it my duty to state that I have found it extremely beneficial in my particular case. Before the use of your medicine my digestive organs were often torpid and inactive; and this state of things occasioned a frequent suspension of the action of the heart, one of the most death-like feelings with which a mortal can be visited. Your Cordial seems to have been precisely the kind of stomachic that I required; it has warmed and excited those organs, and imparted to them a propertone and vigor of action. and imparted to them a propertone and vigor of action-Previous to its use I could not eat many things which I now take with impunity. I especially mention raspberries and currents. I have not yet taken two bottles of it.

enough to ensure easy leg-lighty. The pages will be in A volume will be published about once a fortnight, or oftener if occasion shall require. In this respect the publishrs will be governed by the supply; whatever good works appear will be premptly issued in the octavo edition.

The first volume will contain the "Pelham; or, Adventures of a Gentleman," of Sir Edward Lytton Bulwer, a new edition of which, it is believed, will not be unaccepta . ble, so many years having elapsed since its appearance .-The volume will contain a portrait of the author, finely engraved on steel.

A new work by Sir E. L. Bulwer, on which he is now engaged, entitled "The Last of the Barons," will be issued in one of the early volumes, that is, as soon as the last pages of the manuscript shall have been received from the author and for the purpose of furnishing a uniform edition of his novels. Those already published will be issued in the same style, at intervals of sufficient length to admit of prompt attention to forthcoming novelties.

All the new works of Mr. James will also be published in this form. The works introduced in this edition will be given comete, without omission or abridgement, and in the neatest and handsomest manner. The paper will be of excellent quality; the sheets will be dried and pressed, so that the olumes will be in order for binding; and as the price is ower than that of any edition or form in which such works have ever been published here or elswhere, the publishers confidently anticipate a liberal encouragement from the
